Dr. Millikan On Religion And Science

That science and religion are complementary and harmonious instead of contrary and antagonistic was the assertion of Dr. Robert A. Millikan of Pasadena before an audience which packed the Congregational church at last night's meeting of the Men's Community Club.

The opportunity to hear this famous educator, president of California Institute of Technology and recipient of the Nobel Prize in science, was eagerly seized by the large crowd as a privilege denied to audiences of the larger cities, as Dr. Millikan is now refusing all public speaking engagements. He came to the club meeting only by reason of a promise made to his long time friend, E. D. Burbank, vice president of the club. The address followed the serving of a most delicious dinner by the ladies of the Aid society to more than 100 guests.

President E. E. Bacon said it would seem rather out of place to introduce Dr. Millikan to the crowd, but chose to introduce the audience to the speaker, and said he had promised to address the meeting on "Science and Religion."

Having written some books and pamphlets on that topic, Dr. Millikan asked the indulgence of his hearers for an informal talk on the history of his own thought on the controversy which has raged in recent years. This he gave in conversational manner, with clear reasoning and lucid expression which were as delightful as they were illuminating.

Going Backward

Two severe shocks were felt by him a few years ago, said Dr. Millikan. One was the receipt of a telegram from President McVey of the University of Kentucky asking an expression from him on the bill then pending before the Kentucky legislature to prohibit the teaching of evolution in the schools. The other was a statement by a scientific friend about the same time that in his opinion the churches of the day were four hundred years behind the times in their thinking.

Having been brought up in the home of a Congregational minister his father being considered a conservative, Dr. Millikan found it difficult to comprehend either position. The temper of the Kentucky legislators seemed on a par with the Inquisition and the suppression of Galileo's teaching. It was a reversion to the days when men were burned for refusing to subscribe to one creed or another. With the general principle of evolution accepted by his father's conservative theology, he could not help feeling if the latter were still alive he would stand as firmly for freedom of thought as against legislative suppression. On the other hand, having intimate acquaintance with the students and faculty of such institutions as Union and Chicago Seminaries over a period of many years, Dr. Millikan said he found equal difficulty in crediting the declaration of his scientific friend.

Blame for these misunderstandings and misconceptions, Dr. Millikan placed about equally upon men who call themselves scientists and even occupy positions of prominence in the schools but who lack adequate comprehension of life as a whole, and upon church men with the spirit of the Inquisition and no real understanding of science.

The Real Issue

To the real scientist, the real issue is not the truth or falsity of the theory of that divine plan of development called evolution. It is rather the question of whether men are to be allowed to think things through and accept truth when and as they find it. The opposition represents the absurdities reached by a literalistic interpretation of the Bible which might, for instance, be used to prove that the earth is flat and stationary with the sun revolving around it.

Then followed an interesting recital of efforts to secure and make

MEET TO PLAN ON ROLL CALL OF RED CROSS

The Sierra Madre Chapter of the American Red Cross has received a cordial invitation to attend the Regional Conference of Chapters to be held in Fullerton, Wednesday, Oct. 22, at the Fullerton Club rooms. An interesting program has been arranged with addresses by representatives from Headquarters of the Pacific Division, as well as the individual chapters.

The eighth annual roll call will begin as usual on Armistice day, November 11, for the re-enrollment of members, and the conference will be aimed to illustrate and explain the various phases of Red Cross work, both local and national.

Lunch will be served at the club rooms at 12:30, and those attending will be guests of the local chapter. If you can attend the conference, please notify Robert Mitchell, chairman of the Sierra Madre chapter.

At the annual meeting of the Modern Priscillas held at Miss Lydia M. Webster's Mrs. Cicely Allen was elected president. The next meeting of the Priscillas will be at the home of Mrs. Allen, 139 Bonita avenue, on Thursday afternoon, Oct. 23.

Parents Are Going to the High School

Monday night, Oct. 20, is "Going to School Night" for parents of Pasadena High students.

At 7:30 there will be an address by Principal William F. Ewing in the high school auditorium and music by the orchestra. At 8:30 the parents are invited to the teachers' room to get acquainted with the teachers of their children.

This is an opportunity no one who is interested in high school will want to miss.

Mrs. John Schlatter, who has been the guest the past four months of Mrs. Laura Cline of Sierra Madre Canyon Park, left Wednesday for her home in Toledo, O. Last Friday evening Mrs. Agnes Leighton of East Central avenue, gave a dinner in honor of Mrs. Schlatter. Covers were laid for four.

public a statement showing the truly harmonious position of the leaders of religious and scientific thought in America. Passing modestly over his own part in bringing it to realization, Dr. Millikan read the statement which was signed by three groups of sixteen representative men each from the fields of science, theology and general affairs. The statement is too long to reproduce here, but was summed up in the opening sentence of this article. Science and religion are both regarded as necessary for the realization of the best in human life, with religion having the more important part of developing the consciences and aspirations of men to the highest degree. The true scientist is not materialistic but feels keenly the responsibility of contributing to the welfare of his fellows.

For those who wish to follow the most modern thought on the subject Dr. Millikan mentioned a number of books of interest, as follows:

Science and Religion, by Robert A. Millikan, Bulletin No. 98, published by the California Institute of Technology.
The Place of Religion in Modern Scientific Civilization, by Dr. Chas. P. Steinmetz, Bulletin No. 13, Unitarian Layman's League, Boston.

Everlasting Life, by William Keen, M. D., LL. D., Emeritus Prof. of Surgery, Jefferson Medical College, published by Lippincott.

Science and Life, by Robert A. Millikan, Pilgrim Press, Chicago.

In closing the meeting, President Bacon said he believed the sincerest tribute the audience could pay Dr. Millikan for his address would be to secure and read one or more of these publications and endeavor to broadcast the spirit and thought so splendidly expressed by him.

Lodge Serves Steak Dinner Next Tuesday

Something out of the ordinary in social affairs for Sierra Madre lodge No. 408 F. & A. M. is scheduled for next Tuesday night, Oct. 21, according to E. L. Yerxa, master of the lodge. The monthly social night, which ordinarily is held on the last Tuesday night, has been advanced one week and a steak dinner will be served by the able commissariat of the entertainment committee. The degree of Master Mason will be conferred that night, also, part of the work being done before dinner so the evening session will not be unduly prolonged.

This being the first social affair of the fall season, an invitation is extended to all sojourning Masons, especially newcomers in the community who may not have made the acquaintance of the local lodge. These are urged to make themselves known and not wait for a personal invitation. Dinner will be served promptly at 6:30 in the Woman's Club dining room.

Many members of the lodge have been attending the Diamond Jubilee celebration of the Grand Lodge of California which is in session in Los Angeles this week. Headquarters are at the Biltmore hotel and Grand Lodge sessions are held in the Biltmore Theater. This being the second time in 75 years of the history of the Grand Lodge that it has met outside of San Francisco, the Southern California Masons are making a special effort to make the anniversary celebration a memorable occasion for the visitors from other parts of the state.

At the annual election of officers which is held there today it is expected that Deputy Grand Master David J. Reese of Ventura will be advanced to the office of Grand Master. Mr. Reese has many warm friends in Sierra Madre gained in the exchange of visits between the Sierra Madre and Ventura lodges last year.

EASTERN STAR MEETS MONDAY

"Advance of officers" will be the order of the evening at next Monday night's regular meeting of Sierra Madre Chapter No. 299, Order of the Eastern Star. This is the annual occasion for the officers of the line to fill the station next higher than their own. Following the brief business session, there will be a social in charge of the past matrons of the chapter. A cordial invitation is extended to all visiting members of the order by the matron, Mrs. George B. Morgridge.

Beginning next Tuesday the annual meeting of the Grand Chapter of the Eastern Star in California will be held at Hotel Huntington, Pasadena. A number of members of the local chapter are planning to attend the sessions.

LADIES WILL SEW ALL DAY

Mesdames Sparks, Caskey, Barbour and Doty will serve as hostesses at the first all day meeting for this season of the Congregational Ladies' Aid Society, next Tuesday. Sewing for the bazaar will be ready by 10 o'clock and luncheon will be served at noon. A cordial invitation is extended to all interested, particularly strangers, to spend this day with the ladies. If you have neighbors who are newcomers to Sierra Madre be sure to invite them to come with you to get acquainted in their new home.

Opening of the new Wistaria Tea Room this week as announced in last week's News, was prevented by delay in arrival of some of the necessary furnishings. Work is being rushed as fast as possible and Mrs. Muskrath and Mrs. Holbert are hoping they will be able to open for business in a few days. Each step in bringing the new establishment nearer completion makes it more attractive and all the more deserving of success for the owners.

Each Party In One Inning At Clubhouse

Three politicians took the platform Monday night at the Woman's club house to defend the name of the political party written on his banner. The word is used in a broad sense for one of the speakers was a woman. The purpose of the meeting, which was sponsored by the Sierra Madre Woman's club, was to acquaint Sierra Madre voters with the aims and ideals of each of the three parties with a presidential candidate in the field.

Mrs. Samuel E. Stork, president of the Woman's Club, presided over the meeting and in a brief address stressed the importance of being fully informed on the political questions of the day and the policies of all of the representative parties. She suggested that there was an art in being a good listener and that all sides of any question are entitled to a hearing. Lots were drawn for places on the program.

Mr. Palmer was the first to speak. He mentioned the slogan of the Democratic party coined during the time of Jefferson, "The Greatest Good to the Greatest Number." He also dwelt at some length on the question of tariff, saying that a high tariff would prove a barrier to the development of the harbor at San Pedro and that a protective tariff was simply a protection of the classes against the masses. Mr. Palmer was strong in his praise for Woodrow Wilson and the League of Nations, saying that their purpose was peace, not war.

Mr. White, representative of the Republican party, stressed the stand of President Coolidge in support of the Constitution, calling attention to the mental and physical integrity of the framers of the Constitution after the struggle which gave the nation birth. He pointed out the importance of keeping the original intention of the founders of our government, especially in reference to the judicial department of the country and the supreme court.

Mrs. Chapin, the LaFollette representative, launched a vigorous attack on the claims set forth by the two preceding speakers, as soon as she was presented to the gathering. With biting sarcasm she flayed the older parties, pointing out the number of times each had been given opportunities to prove its worth and had failed. She also advocated the upholding of the constitution but from a different angle than the former speaker. She pointed to the "Bill of Rights," as another phase of the document to consider. She pleaded for the amendment giving congress the right to veto the decisions of the supreme court and asserted that the League of Nations is a dead issue.

The meeting was well attended and was a success from every angle. The speakers were held strictly to party platforms and the referendum measures which will come before the people at the coming election were not discussed.

ELLIS SELLS BUSY BEE TO LEW GLICK

Charles Ellis has sold his restaurant. He, Mrs. Ellis and their family expect to go to Albuquerque, N. M., soon. The new manager, Mr. Lew Glick, took possession after spending about a month acquainting himself with the details of the business. On Sundays he will make a specialty of chicken dinners at 75c a plate.

Mr. Glick said that after eating in restaurants all over the country he realizes what people want to eat and how they want it served. The restaurant will continue under the name Busy Bee Cafe. Mr. and Mrs. Glick came here from Brooklyn, New York, and are delighted with Sierra Madre.

Mrs. G. Humphries returned home Thursday after being away a week visiting friends in Los Angeles and San Diego county.

HOME ENTERED BY BURGLARS IN DAYLIGHT

Daylight burglars, acting with the dispatch that bespeaks the professional thoroughly ransacked the home of Mrs. Agnes McLaughlin, 371 No. Adams street, last Thursday. Gaining entrance by cutting a screen, the gang went through every drawer, trunk and suitcase in the house, opening every receptacle which might hide the valuable jewels. Mrs. McLaughlin is known to possess. These were safely locked in a safety deposit vault and though disappointed in not obtaining the major portion of the loot they expected to gain, the burglars carried away jewelry and wearing apparel worth hundreds of dollars.

Included in the loot were a 60-inch string of pearls and a Colt automatic. Even a small address book, containing only addresses was taken.

Most of the jewelry was keepsakes of Mrs. McLaughlin's deceased mother and father, valued more for sentimental reasons than intrinsic worth, and Mrs. McLaughlin will pay a greater reward, with no questions asked, for its return than can be obtained from its disposal in any other manner.

Stars Galore Are Booked At Wistaria

Another trio of corking good features have been booked by Manager Brown at the Wistaria for the coming week. The programs are getting better and better, and the audiences ought to grow larger and larger in a similar ratio. Are you aware of the fine entertainment you can get right here in your own home theater?

The Saturday-Monday picture is one you can't forget. It is "The Lullaby."

To see it is to love it, not alone for the beautiful star, the incomparable Jane Novak, or for the masterful direction of Chester Bennett, but for its picture composition, its unusual story and the finished work of every member of the cast!

Photographic effects of rare beauty have been achieved in Thomas H. Ince's "The Marriage Cheat," booked for Tuesday and Wednesday. Much of the action in the film was photographed in the South Seas, where the fitful, misty rainfalls, peculiar to that region enabled the camera men to make a variety of artistic shots. The sea, in its many contrasted moods, also contributes many gems to the pictorial beauty of the production. Leatrice Joy, Percy Marmont and Adolph Menjou are the stars.

And then comes Laura LaPlante! Because she worked for everybody, everybody worked her 'til her frantic sweetheart had her locked up. Where? How? When? And did she escape? For a laugh and a thrill see Laura LaPlante in her fascinating new comedy, "Young Ideas."

Large Crowd Attends First P. T. A. Meet

Attendance at the first P. T. A. meeting at the Kindergarten building on Wednesday was very gratifying to the new officers and much interest and enthusiasm for the year's work was expressed. Mrs. Calvert, the new president, outlined the general plans of the organization, touching on the importance of cooperation with the P. T. A. federation which maintains a scholarship fund for deserving scholars and will also pay doctors bills and hospital expenses whenever necessary.

A rummage sale is to be held in Pasadena Oct. 30 and 31 and the local Parent-Teacher association is asked to send anything which may be available for sale, and is also asked to make an apron for sale to help these funds, it being suggested that one cent be placed in the pocket for each year of one's life.

Following reports of the treasurer, Mrs. Lord, chairman of a special cafeteria committee, made a report and read a letter from County Superintendent Mark Keppel which outlined his requirements for maintaining a school cafeteria in this district. Since the cafeteria lunches and the distribution of milk have been of great benefit the parents do not like to discontinue either one of these measures, but the matter of financing is a serious one and every effort is being made to get such service and have it on a paying basis. Milk will be served at the 10 o'clock recess as heretofore.

A delightful program was enjoyed, the first number being the Slumber Song, which was sung by Dorothy Pratt. "School Days" was also delightfully given by Dorothy Pratt and Robert Hall, with four of the first grade children in a little school room scene for background. Mrs. Ashmore sang "Trees," and the school principal, Miss Steinberger, then outlined what the P. T. A. can do in Sierra Madre. Miss Steinberger urges the mothers to attend the meetings of this association to make the afternoons interesting ones. She asks that the parents visit the school and watch the charts and is firm in her conviction that if the Parent-Teacher organization will work for any issue of which it approves that issue is bound to carry.

The incoming officers served tea and an informal reception was given for the teachers.

PICTURE SHOW DATE PROVES BIG SURPRISE

A surprise party that really surprised was given by members of the Church of the Ascension in honor of the birthday of the rector's wife at the parish house Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Shaw, the surprise, had been invited to attend a movie show and an excuse was made to stop at the parish house for a moment. When she walked into the darkened auditorium, the lights were suddenly flashed on and she was hilariously greeted by about 75 members of the congregation. The evening was spent in card games and listening to a fine radio which had been installed for the occasion.

A fine supper had been prepared by the ladies of the parish and every one had such a good time that the hour was late when they reluctantly dispersed. Mr. Harold Davennes had charge of the arrangements and it was largely due to his skillful management that the secret was so well kept and that the affair went off so smoothly.

A most enthusiastic group met at the home of Dr. Addie Pawson last Friday for the purpose of organizing a Metaphysical study class, with Mrs. Davidson, a graduate of Ann Arbor, as teacher. It was decided to take up the study of the New Spiritual Bible, by Brown Landone. This class is to meet each Friday afternoon at 2:30 at 105 E. Central avenue. A most cordial invitation is given to all to come to this class.

Zero hour for foods!

EVERY DAY, even in our coolest months--there are many "zero hours" for foods, unless they are kept in the cold, even temperature of a well filled refrigerator.

Germs thrive in a warm temperature, and while it may take several hours or even a day for unchilled food to spoil badly enough to be thrown away, deterioration sets in immediately when the temperature rises above a safe limit. This is especially true of milk in which germs breed rapidly above 50° and at a tremendous rate above 60°.

Long before the milk sours or the meat tastes badly, it loses food value. Stale food does not nourish like fresh food nor is it as appetizing or as easily digested.

Adertising Boosts Call For Avocado

The rapidly growing interest in Avocados was manifested Tuesday evening when over 150 Chaffee managers listened to the Manager of the California Avocado Growers Exchange discuss the different varieties and properties of avocados.

In spite of the increased production of avocados the price remains fairly steady because of the public realization of the food value of this fruit, but at this time of the year prices are lower than any other time.

Avocados are grouped in three general races: West Indian, Guatemalan, and Mexican. Florida provides the West Indian fruit of large size and shiny green appearance in season during the late summer and fall. Guatemalan varieties of large size, thick skin and varied colors from green to black make up the bulk of California production and are in season the year around. The Mexican varieties grown locally, are small thin skinned fruit of excellent flavor in season during the fall months only.

Had you done these things you would have made enemies. Randall For Boulder Dam On Colorado

Picturing Los Angeles as the future wonder city of the world and Southern California as earthly paradise, Charles H. Randall, an earnest advocate of the Boulder Canyon project, told a Monrovia audience Friday night of miracles which may be performed when the Colorado river is harnessed and brought to the Southland.

Randall, who is the progressive candidate for congressman in the Ninth district, has entered upon a whirlwind campaign. He is speaking constantly before voters clubs, conventions and other meetings.

"The Grand Canyon of the Colorado river is the colossus of all nature's wonders. It is the giant of the ages," said Randall in his Monrovia address. "If every mountain range in Los Angeles county from Old Baldy to Mount Lowe were turned upside down and dropped into the Grand Canyon, they would not fill that yawning chasm. It is a mile deep, and thirteen miles from rim to rim at El Tovar. From the eternal snows of the Tetons at Yellowstone National Park and from towering mountain ranges of Colorado and Utah come the waters which with mighty rushing force have gashed the earth's face and created this marvel.

"The water flow of the Colorado river, including annual flood run off from the seven states which it touches is sufficient to provide for the domestic needs of fifty million people. However to do this the water must be conserved by storing in vast reservoirs. In the Grand Canyon, at the mouth of the Boulder Canyon, a tributary, is the site approved by government engineers for a dam sufficiently big to store in the reservoir created thereby the entire flow of the river for two years. The water is very heavy with silt and this reservoir acts also as a settling basin, but it is of such vast extent that the reservoir would not fill with silt from the water for two hundred years.

"To keep this Midas-like resource in the hands of the people and to develop its power for their use and under their perpetual ownership and

PROPOSE NEW ROAD TO LINK BIG HIGHWAYS

A road from the foot of the mountains to the Valley boulevard seems likely to soon become a fact. Arrangements have been completed to extend Sierra Madre avenue, which has its source at the base of the mountains on the west side of Sierra Madre, from the Foothill boulevard to Huntington drive, along the west side of the Michillinda tract. This road joins Huntington drive a tenth of a mile west of Sunset. With the extension of Sunset to the Valley boulevard there will be a complete thoroughfare from the foot of the mountains to Savannah and will be the best and most direct connection between Pasadena and other foothill towns and the beach towns.

By measurement, this proposed road, connected with Lexington road at El Monte, is one mile shorter than any other leading to Whittier or Orange county and is exactly the same distance as the road to Long Beach via the San Gabriel boulevard. The subdividers are also planning to extend Colorado across their tract to the new road, which will make it a very easy thoroughfare to follow from Pasadena.

Craft Work To Be Shown Before Club

(Mrs. Elmer A. Green, Press Correspondent)

American Arts and Crafts will be featured at the next regular meeting of the Sierra Madre Woman's club on Wednesday, Oct. 22, at 2:30. Two master craftsmen well known for their wonderful contributions to the world of art and its applied use will each give a short lecture. Mr. Peter Banchard, designer and maker of fine wrought silverware, whose exquisite work is appreciated in eastern cities, comes to the west looking for the assurance that fine craftsmanship will be welcomed and appreciated here.

Mr. Douglas Donaldson of Detroit and Hollywood is a master of art metal work. His achievements also in interior decoration are of highest artistic value and as a teacher of color theory and design in the University of California he is constantly sending forth into the world artists inspired by his true love of the beautiful.

There will be a treat indeed in an exhibition of craftwork under the personal direction of Mrs. Donaldson.

Masque Ball

Music for the afternoon will be in charge of Mrs. J. N. Hawks. Tea will be served at 4 o'clock.

Witches and goblins, black cats and jack-o'-lanterns will hold sway at the Woman's club house on Friday night, October 31, and all who dance and love a jolly evening will be there. Kenny's Kentucky Kolonels will breeze the music from 8 to 12 o'clock. There will be prizes for costumes and it is hoped all will mask. Punch will be served. Admission, 50 cents for each person. Mrs. Frank E. Barbour is the chairman in charge.

All club notices for publication in the local paper must be in the hands of the press correspondent by 8 p. m. on Wednesdays.

On Monday evening at the invitation of the club citizens of Sierra Madre gathered at the club house to hear the presentation of the three political platforms in the present campaign. Speeches in behalf of the different candidates were introduced by the club president, Mrs. Stork, who presided over the meeting.

W. Fleet Palmer of Monrovia spoke first as the champion of Democratic party. He stressed the importance of a lower tariff and the League of Nations.

John R. White of Glendale, an advocate of the Republican party, took issue with the first speaker, calling our attention to the need of a protective tariff and the necessity that patriots stand behind Coolidge and the Constitution.

Mrs. Lou V. Chapin had the advantage of being the last speaker and took issue with both former speakers, calling the League of Nations a dead issue. She cited Mr. LaFollette's standing in his own state of Wisconsin and the laws he advocated.

Park Board Is Appointed By Trustees

New members of the Park Commission as appointed at the last meeting of the board of city trustees are Frank Monroe Smith, E. D. Burbank and Carl F. Young. With Mr. Smith as chairman they will take charge of the further development of the park.

Mr. Smith's ability as a florist and horticulturalist is well known. Mr. Burbank is keenly interested in public improvements and civic betterment of all kinds. Mr. Young is one of the owners of the Builders Finance Association of Los Angeles with much practical experience in high class property development.

Sierra Madre was given a fine start toward a real park system thru the work of the old commission consisting of Capt. C. H. Barker, Major C. S. Floyd and Harold F. Roberts. They did the difficult pioneering in working out a plan which will make the first park a place of beauty and usefulness. Some comprehensive park system for the future, making use of the city property in the Santa Anita arroyo and the Bally Canyon offer a problem worthy of attention of the most capable planners.

POPULAR GIRL COMPOSER DIES

Elaine Heaney, talented daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Heaney, formerly of Great Falls, Mont., died Sunday at her home, 35 South Sunnyside avenue. Miss Heaney was one of the most popular pupils of the Eagan school where she was in attendance at the time she was taken ill with pneumonia. When 15 years of age, Miss Heaney composed a song, "Bringing a Surprise to You," which achieved considerable vogue. Recently she received an offer from the Goldwyn studio to appear in pictures, which she had to decline on account of illness. Besides her father and mother, Miss Heaney leaves one sister, Gladys. Funeral services were held at St. Rita's Catholic church Wednesday morning, with interment in Calvary cemetery, Los Angeles.

Program for Week Beginning October 18

SATURDAY AND MONDAY—

THE LULLABY

JANE NOVAK. A colossal tribute to motherhood. Perhaps no better portrayal of real mother-love has been given on the screen than Jane Novak's exceptionally fine performance in "The Lullaby." Here is a production that hits straight to the heart and tells in unforgettable scenes the magnificent story of a mother's love for her child. A picture that will appeal to every one because it portrays something we all have known, the love of our mother. It is fine. It is big. It is beautiful.

14th Chapter of THE SANTA FE TRAIL.

TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY—

THE MARRIAGE CHEAT

LEATRICE JOY and PERCY MARMONT. A First National picture produced by Thomas Ince. A film of the South Seas, full of romance, thrills and constant surprises, with unseen dangers on every side. A drama of a disillusioned wife, a scoundrel husband, an island beauty and a missionary lover. As good as a trip to Hawaii, with its tropical background and ocean scenes.

THURSDAY AND FRIDAY—

YOUNG IDEAS

LAURA LA PLANTE. A captivating screen star in a farce-comedy which will capture you and hold you for a solid hour of unceasing laughter. Packed with pep, loaded with laughter, crowded with comedy. They worked her almost to a shadow but Spence rescues her. The cleanest, merriest, fastest stepping comedy of months. A rib-tickler for old and young.

Comedy—THE RICH PUP.

SATURDAY AND MONDAY—

THE PERFECT FLAPPER

COLLEEN MOORE and JOHN PATRICK. We had this booked last month, but were obliged to substitute on account of damaged film.

THE SIERRA MADRE PRESS, Incorporated

GEORGE B. MORGRIDGE, Managing EditorEntered as second class matter at the post office at Sierra Madre, Calif.,
under the act of March 3, 1879

In Behalf of the Country Press

A vicious attack has been made by the San Francisco News upon the country press of California, in an editorial in which that newspaper also attacks Governor Friend W. Richardson. It accuses the country newspapers of being servile tools, owned by the corporation interests.

Every newspaper has a right to be against Governor Richardson if it wants to be. It has a right to be for Senator LaFollette for president, as the San Francisco News is, and it has the privilege of doing all that it honestly can for the so-called Water and Power Act. There are newspapers that take one or all of these positions and no one takes issue with them as to their honesty of purpose. By the same token, the San Francisco News has no justification in attacking the country newspapers of California because a majority of them are not for the policies advocated by itself.

The average metropolitan newspaper editorial writer prepares what he is told to write. The ownership of the San Francisco paper is controlled by a wealthy syndicate that owns a large number of newspapers, which are sponsors of the same sort of policies as it is. It would be interesting to know how many honest, independent editorials each of these newspapers prints.

In contrast, if there is any group of California newspapers that is really independent and uncontrolled, it is that portion made up of newspapers edited by their owners, who are giving all of the best that they have to the communities and state in which they live, and whatever their expressed opinions may be, they are essentially honest.

The Cheapness of Life

More than 85,000 Americans have been murdered during the last ten years. As the murder rate is increasing faster than the population, the next ten years may be expected to witness close to 150,000 of our people done to death in the same manner. Pistol toting, laxity of criminal procedure and too much liberality in granting paroles and pardons will continue to contribute to this gruesome result. The Loeb-Leopold verdict may be expected to increase the homicide rate very rapidly.

Profitable While It Lasts

Slaughtered to make an American holiday—Jimmy Murphy, Joe Boyer, Dario Resta and nearly a dozen other victims of automobile speedway racing in the good year 1924. Take away the probability—almost certainty—that one or more of the drivers will be killed or maimed, and speedway racing is a tame sport. The prospect of witnessing a tragedy is what draws the crowds. Has not civilization advanced far enough to frown on this and other forms of "dare-devil" stuff for profit?

Plant Trees

Free distribution of fifty million trees and shrubs to prairie farmers by the Canadian government during the past few years has proven to be a far-sighted and beneficial public policy. This sort of paternalism accomplishes great good, without giving much opportunity for dishonesty.

A Champion Extraordinary

To win a national athletic championship is a great feat, but to win it five years in succession is remarkable. This record has been made by William T. Tilden, 2d, of Philadelphia, who recently won the national tennis championship for the fifth consecutive time.

He is also tennis champion of the world and probably the greatest tennis player of all time.

This distinction may not be important in point of usefulness to the world, but it stamps its holder as a man of prodigious determination and skill, worthy of emulation and the highest praise.

Minority Rule

Our forefathers fought taxation without representation. We would fight today if any foreign or domestic force should attempt to deprive us of the ballot. Yet, in the last presidential election only 49 per cent of eligible citizens voted, and in many primary elections less than 25 per cent cast their ballots. This indifference to one of our fundamental civic duties is a menace to representative government.

HEBREW DOES
HOSTILE TOWN

What is known in the vernacular of the show business as a "knock-out" is due at the Colonial Theater, Monrovia, next week, where "Welcome Stranger" will be given its initial presentation.

With as nne a cast as appears in a picture in a blue moon, a story that effervesces with clean-cut comedy, real honest-to-goodness characters that you meet in every day life, and a plot that sustains interest throughout, "Welcome Stranger" is just what its title implies. It's certainly welcome in these days of drab sexy plays and forced humor. It's entertainment plus and leaves a good taste in the show palate after the final fade out.

The chief character in "Welcome Stranger" is a witty and philanthropic Jew who, in attempting to "break in" to the business life of a narrow-minded New England town, encounters the cold shoulder and a select bunch of "rassberries" for his pains. Through the good offices of a "real fellow" in the town, and the real fellow's girl, Isadore Solomon promotes the ideas of an unappreciated inventor-genius, corrals the waterpower of a falls and lights up the town with a modern electric light plant, and generally booms the prosperity in the community.

No finer piece of character portrayal than that of "Isadore Solomon" by Dore Davidson has been seen on the screen since "Potash and Perlmutter." Wherever Solomon is, there is genuine "human interest." Florence Vidor is charming as Mary Clark, the girl who colleagues with him in his projects.

Jones Tells Delights of Circle Tour

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Jones will be glad to read the following delightful letter from Mr. Jones to the editor of the News, written from Quebec in the course of their journey around the country. "Around" is literally correct, for after touring from Quebec down through New England it is their plan to travel by steamer to Cuba and home by way of Panama. Mr. Jones writes as follows:

Quebec, P. Q., Oct. 9.—My Dear George: I remember having made a promise, three months ago, when we left home, to write you if an inspiration presented itself.

Just now I seem saturated with the epidemic—or at least it should be so classified if it takes as readily on every one as it did on us.

We have had a very pleasant and interesting journey ever since we left home. Going as you know up the coast to Victoria, we followed along the popular route of the C. P. railway. Dipping below the border in Minnesota in order to take a boat ride over Lake Superior, to Sault Ste. Marie, where we again left the Dominion for a real nose dive into the "States." Here we purchased a motor car and we have done all our touring in the independence of our own transportation ever since.

Canadian Rockies

The beauties around Victoria and Vancouver are yet fresh in our memories, for the greenery and prolific vegetation in those sections was to our minds a very refreshing change from the parched conditions of Southern California this year.

Victoria is perhaps the most typically English of any American city. It is a city of great beauty and wonderful setting, but personally I think Vancouver really more to my ideal as a home city. The environs of these two cities are almost beyond compare, when the growth and drives are considered. Nature fairly outdoes itself in producing real gems of sylvan wonder and it is no wonder everyone has the same feeling after going from Southern California in the summer time to this section of British Columbia.

On Frozen River

As we journeyed up the Frozen River it seemed the scenery grew more beautiful at every turn, but as we began to climb the Rockies the scene changed only in character, for it was all so lovely and grand, we could not bring ourselves to feel that the scenes we had just seen were less lovely or beautiful, but that these were different and grander in their individuality. And on and on we went for hours and hours and extending over hundreds of miles, until the very climax seemed to be at the crown of the range at Lake Louise. No words, no pen, nor brush can describe this grandeur, and even the eye itself makes only a feeling of uncertainty of its reality.

At Banff we found scenery quite in keeping with its reputation, but as a real eye tonic and soul thrilling scene the emerald waters, mighty cliffs and the numerous glaciers at Lake Louise is our choice. It was at that point where the clouds swung low enough to rasp those banks of snow and scatter the flakes like confetti about us. It was some celebration they gave us from California.

Across the Plains

Canada is not all mountains nor even beautiful scenery, but there are the great plains and wide prairies which stretch out to great and magnificent distances, east from Banff and the Rockies.

One of our peculiar experiences while going through upper Canada was the going to bed before dark at ten o'clock. Then to have the habit of awakening at daylight was even worse, because it gave me but three or four hours sleep.

We stopped at many points on our journey, each offering something different in way of scenery or peculiar to itself. One of our impressions of Winnipeg is the roominess of it all. Wide streets and no city limits. Her parliament building is very beautiful and quite new. I think that little city boasts of 17 golf courses and I believe we saw them all.

Missed the Prince

We got a birdseye view of the Prince's ranch up in Alberta, but as he was then not in this country we did not run in to see him. You see we made that part of our trip too early in the year.

Since this is our silver anniversary we of course had to go to Niagara again—every young married couple does that. But we saw one of the most beautiful bits of scenery I think exists if the setting and character of its uniqueness are considered, at Watkins Glen, New York. If we were to decide which we prefer as interesting and most to enjoy in the seeing between that and Niagara, I don't know which would get it. Of course they are different. One a giant in massiveness and wonder, the other a gem in a magnificent setting. There is so much to see in this America that I wonder why so many scoot off to Europe before they have covered their own country, or even know of its wonders.

Motoring is the best way to go, too. You see more, go on no schedule and you are privileged to shunt off here and there—a sort of will o' the wisp.

In the St. Lawrence

At Thousand Islands we got a water boat—used pontoons on our sedan—and threaded and twisted our way around and among those emerald tufts all one afternoon. I often wondered why they were so named, thinking it was only figurative, so I wanted to know so began counting and after counting 999 I got tired and gave it up, feeling satisfied the name was appropriate for there were many, many more I had not yet counted.

These islands are of all sizes from a mere rock to the size of several miles around them—the largest, I believe, having something like 16,000 or 17,000 acres. These islands are used as camping grounds and summer resorts, there being many very expensive homes thereon.

Canadian Cities

Montreal is a city about the size of Los Angeles and is an immense island in the St. Lawrence also. The drives about the city and its buildings are very beautiful. It is the metropolis of this province, but Quebec, the capital, is to us the most interesting city we have visited so far. It is perhaps the most foreign as well as one of the oldest cities in America. The old citadel and great wall with its historic gates still are found intact and together with the many buildings and points of achievements or defeats in the seventeenth century are open pages of history.

They claim in this province 75 per cent of its population is French speaking—I believe it.

Traveling through the province, we were impressed with its magnificent churches and cathedrals. To me it seemed like there were more than the country required or could maintain without an excessive sacrifice. Yesterday we were in churches built in the very early years of the seventeenth century—claimed to be intact as they were built. The fall of the year is such a beautiful season to tour. The landscape is one great scrambled rainbow. The roads throughout our travels are good to excellent. In Michigan we take off our hats to the state where many of her detours are more delightful to motor on than a new cement road. One of the most impressive things made upon our minds is the system of hotels and railroad comfort and service. The Vancouver, Chateaus at Lake Louise and this one here, the Banff Springs hotel, and at Montreal and wherever the C. P. R. runs, there is comfort, elegance and something of special interest there to the tourist. And perhaps best of all the hospitality and solicitous interest of her people. I can understand now why our Canadian friends and neighbors possess these charms so conspicuously—it was born in them.

—because there exists in the north polar region a point that acts as an electric magnet. This "magnetic pole" attracts the compass needle. North, south, east and west.

Down Through New England

We leave Quebec today or tomorrow after three days of very great interest, for Maine. Dread to think of leaving the Dominion for good this time, but we could not continue very much longer without running into Halifax and I have always heard that spoken of rather disapprovingly.

The weather has been nearly perfect every day during our tour. Of course there has been rain, but always at night time, that our journey may not be interfered with.

With all the pleasure we have had and expect yet to enjoy, our hearts and minds are at our home in good and unequalled California, and we look forward to the time when we may mingle again with Sierra Madrans.

Very sincerely yours,
C. W. JONES.

Pomona Aim Is High for The Future

When James Arnold Blaisdell became president of Pomona College 15 years ago, his inaugural address emphasized "the culture of the capacity for loyalty in college life."

On Oct. 14, "Founders Day Around the World," the 1600 alumni and 3350 ex-students, scattered over 39 states and 13 foreign countries, turned their faces toward Claremont, even as the old Jews kept their "windows open toward Jerusalem." In about 20 centers, groups of alumni and friends foregathered to celebrate the day—to receive the annual messages from their Alma Mater—to be informed of the progress made by the institution in the year that has passed and to learn of the plans for the future.

Founded 37 years ago with but one humble frame building, a nine-acre campus, seven faculty members and practically no resources but faith and courage, its first graduating class numbered eleven. This new day finds it with 20 buildings of imposing and symmetrical architecture, 500-acre campus, 75 faculty members, a student body of 850, with as many more clamoring for admission and its last graduating class numbering 172. This is the story of progress that has wrought "a miracle in a desert" and produced "A college in a garden."

With enlarged resources of faith and courage, Pomona College and its alumni face the future with its incomparable opportunities. An immediate campaign for $3,000,000 additional endowment to resource pressing necessities, a vision of an Americanized Oxford with its group-colleges gathered about a great graduate university, an institution that shall leaven and inspire the life of every nation whose shores are washed by the waters of the Pacific—this is the program to which the alumni body of Pomona College, with its "fine capacity for loyalty" set itself anew on "Founders' Day."

Local Worth Of Red Cross Demonstrated

With the approach of the annual Red Cross Roll Call it is well to keep fresh in mind the work of the Red Cross during the forest fires this fall. It has often been said by the ill-informed that the Red Cross funds go out of town. As a matter of fact only a part of the funds raised are remitted to general headquarters. And even if the amount retained for local use were insufficient for local needs, the national Red Cross would be ready to meet any local emergency.

During the mountain fire the local Red Cross chapter began by sending first aid supplies to the men at the "front." As the fire battle continued and grew in magnitude, with men on duty for long periods it became apparent that competent, regular attendance would be necessary. A practical male nurse was then sent to attend to the needs of the men, and later Dr. H. J. Powers was sent up the Big Santa Anita to Divide Camp. At the main camps at Roberts and Divide Camp, Dr. Powers arrived in time to give much needed treatment to men who had been made ill by camp food and other causes. He was also able to treat many who were injured or burned, some of them painfully. His work probably averted serious consequences which would have resulted from lack of careful treatment.

Fully as important was the work done by the Red Cross chapter in looking after the families of men who had gone to fight the fire. Some of the men who were taken with the various crews left their families with little or no money and supplies soon ran out. The Red Cross chapter investigated as far as possible and saw to it that none of these lacked food or necessities during the absence of the family wage earner. Some of them would have been too proud to let their destitution be known, and real suffering would have resulted but for the prompt action of the chapter.

Your Poultry

By Howard J. Curtis

There is one certain thing about the chicken game and that is we will have the moulting and chicken pox. We have spent the last month wondering if the critters will ever put on a new coat of feathers and just as they begin to look more dressed up, bang, ole man pox shows up among the young stock.

For the benefit of those who do not know of Pox, that means people who have not been in the game a year yet, I am going to outline the symptoms and give a few ideas on treatment.

Poultry pox is, I think, a better name because all kinds of poultry may have the disease. It is also called "sore head" and sometimes is called names that I do not dare pound out of this typewriter. It is very contagious and is carried by birds, flies, and at times fowls are infected by the bites of mosquitos. Although pox is frequently fatal, the worst part is that it brings down the general health of the flock and opens the way for other diseases.

Dirt and Damp Causes

A case of pox usually starts with a cold and generally develops in houses that are not clean and dry. After this it is carried from flock to flock as I have already mentioned. The symptoms that immediately follow the cold are scabby warts on the comb, lobes and face, and occasionally on various parts of the body. These are brownish and rough and resemble the common wart. When broken they discharge a thick, yellow liquid. It is usually about two weeks after exposure that the evidence of these spots is noticeable. In the meantime these germs are multiplying in the blood and will break out later in sores.

Now in treating pox I do not claim that any treatment is a sure cure. There are poultrymen who have been in the game for years that claim there is nothing that can be done and that pox has to run its course. I do believe that it will keep on showing up in a flock until all the germs have been expelled from the blood and this cannot take place in a day or week. Also I believe that with proper care you can keep the pox down so that in many cases it will not only save hens but will aid the sick ones to regain their health faster. So if you wish to follow any of the following suggestions and are benefited I will be very thankful:

First, isolate all the noticeably infected fowls and thoroughly disinfect the houses with very strong disinfectant. Then you may add sulphur to the mash or a good commercial pox remedy. An excellent solution to add to the drinking water as a preventive can be made as follows: Put one tablespoonful of cream of tartar in two pints of boiling water. When cool, add this to one gallon of drinking water. If your flock has the pox bad use two tablespoons of cream of tartar instead of one. This solution should be put into the drinking water for about three days, then just fresh water for a couple of days, then put in a disinfectant for a day, and repeat. Success in treating pox comes through patiently keeping at the fight every day. Putting iodine on the sores of the worst cases is a help, also. Understand, I am not talking against the commercial pox remedies, for I believe that a good commercial remedy should be given all of the time. The treatment above is to aid and assist the remedy you are giving.

Vaccination has also proved a great help in many cases of pox, and I will gladly help and furnish information regarding same to anyone who will write me.

KIWANIS OUT TO SECURE A RECORD VOTE

The entire membership of almost 100,000 in 1200 Kiwanis clubs in the United States are now engaged in the campaign to secure a record vote in the coming presidential election, according to an announcement made by Victor M. Johnson, international president of the organization. He said that, although all the clubs are now engaged in the educational work of every nature in connection with this campaign, the members would concentrate on the personal work of actually getting the citizens to go to the polls on November 4th, and in this manner influence the casting of several million votes.

VAUDEVILLE BIG FEATURE OF WEEK-END

From the Pasadena Egyptian Theatre comes the interesting announcement that every Saturday and Sunday a special five act vaudeville program will be presented in this beautiful play house, three performances each day. The program will include a feature play, a comedy and news reel.

Mr. Lusher presents the following program Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 18 and 19. The Adair Duo, in a comedy triple bar novelty act, the death-defying stunts performed by these superb athletes causing the audience to gasp and marvel at their daring. Then the Arthur Van Trio, stars of the road show, "Bringing Up Father," will present Jiggs, Maggie and Co., in person. Needless to say this act headlines the program and will have the crowd in an uproar during the entire act. Thatcher Devereaux and Adams, the fastest dancing number in vaudeville, another of those beautiful dance numbers that made the vaudeville during the past three weeks of the winter season at the Egyptian such a success. The Three Spinners is a surprise musical act, and last, but not least, comes Newton Hall and Thelma Marvin, child dancers and entertainers. Newton Hall has made quite a reputation as a motion picture actor, having played in "Penrod and Sam," and "A Girl of the Limberlost." The picture is a "Story Without a Name," with Antonio Moreno and Agnes Ayres.

Plenty of parking space close to the Egyptian theatre. No parking restrictions after 6 p. m.

Forests Pay Big Revenue To Uncle Sam

In view of the woefully inadequate fire protection afforded the Angelus Forest Reserve by the government, the following official statement from the office of the federal district forester in San Francisco is of unusual interest just now:

The national forests of California are one of the big business enterprises of the government that pays for itself. Figures just released by the U. S. Forest Service district headquarters at San Francisco show that during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1924, there was turned into the Federal treasury the sum of $1,241,605 as receipts from timber sales, livestock grazing and other forms of uses of the 17 national forests of the state. The expenditures for the administration and protection of the forests, for the same period, amounted to approximately $985,000, leaving a credit balance of over a quarter million dollars.

The amount received from the sale of mature timber in the national forests was $910,970, and from fees for the grazing of cattle and sheep, $250,000. Water power brought in $43,000, and special uses $91,000, of which latter amount nearly $60,000 was received from the renting of summer-home sites in the forests.

Compared with the returns for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1923, National forest receipts for the past year were $32,890 less; the decrease being caused by the smaller number of applications for permits to graze livestock on the forest ranges.

Twenty-five per cent of the national forest receipts, or $310,400, will be returned to the state to be distributed to counties in which National forests are located, for school and road development. An additional 10 per cent, or $124,000, will also be expended locally by the forest service for the construction of roads and trails. California will thus benefit to the extent of nearly $435,000 from the business receipts of the national forests, without taking into consideration the intangible asset of sport and recreation that the federal forests afford, and which are yearly enjoyed by millions of citizens.

Imagine the shock to American traffic dodgers if our autoists, instead of honking and whizzing past, followed the example of the London hansom driver. When he saw a pedestrian directly in the way of his cab horse, he drew up, leaned over and gently inquired, "Hi say, sir, may I awsk what are your plans?"

SAFETY LAST

CHAMBER TO HOLD DINNER NEXT FRIDAY

The Chamber of Commerce will hold its first dinner of the season at the Woman's Club house next Friday night at 6:30. The principal speaker will be Louis J. Arland of San Diego, the president of the U. S. Junior C. of C. Hugh J. Pomery of the County Regional Planning conference will tell of some of the county enterprises in which Sierra Madre has an important interest.

MAN WITHOUT A COUNTRY AT LOCAL THEATER

A special feature of the Wistaria service Sunday evening will be the presentation of the film, "The Man Without a Country." This picture which is based on Edward Everett Hale's great story is especially approved for presentation at this time. "The Man Without a Country" first appeared in 1863 during the darkest period in the history of our great republic. It was written at a time when one-half of the people in the United States were burning with patriotism and were ready to lay down their lives to preserve the Union.

These evening services, which are fostered by the Congregational church with the cooperation of Mr. Brown, will be transferred at the end of the month to the First Congregational church building. A special equipment is being installed to make this possible and a standard motion picture projector will be used.

The meeting begins promptly at 7:30 p. m. and all are cordially invited. Come early if you wish a good seat.

Congregational Church

The usual services will be held at the Congregational church next Sunday. Dr. Tate will preach at the morning service, taking for his subject "The Lure of the Unknown." One of the great things about religion is that it calls for moral and spiritual adventure of the highest kind. The pioneers of the Soul are no less hardy and heroic than the pioneers who beat forward and break new paths for civilization. The heroes of the faith, whose heroisms are in the region of the spiritually unseen, are not less heroic than the heroes of unexplored regions. This spirit of moral and religious adventure the Congregational church endeavors to foster.

We cordially invite strangers and those without a church home to worship and fellowship with us. Morning service at 11; church school at 9:45; theatre service at 7:30 p. m.

Mrs. C. F. Farmer of 77 South Lima returned this week from a six weeks trip through the northwest. In addition to pleasant visits in San Francisco, Seattle and Vancouver, she journeyed through the Canadian Rockies, spending two weeks at Banff.

JUST BY WAY OF CORRECTION

Sierra Madre News: At the very enjoyable non-partisan meeting at the Woman's club house on Monday evening last the lady who so forcibly upheld the cause of LaFollette made a slip of the tongue, unintentionally no doubt, stating that Mr. Dawes was under indictment. And from the fact that Mr. Dawes is not under indictment and Mr. Wheeler, the running mate of Mr. LaFollette, is. She no doubt intended referring to Mr. Wheeler instead of Mr. Dawes. Without doubt she will be surprised to learn of this slip of the tongue and be grateful for the correction.

Very respectfully,
FRANK B. SEELEY.

TO SEARCH FOR YOUNG ARTISTS THROUGH RADIO

Adam Mueller went to Los Angeles today to make arrangements with the Times Radio Station KHJ to have a search started for Humbert Haug, 28, and Leonard Borman, 30, of 629 West Mariposa, who disappeared during the recent mountain fire. They were last heard of about four weeks ago.

A meeting was held last night at the city hall at which friends of the missing men and members of the Sierra Madre police force discussed methods of locating the missing men.

Mr. Haug and his companion are landscape artists and when they left some time ago, it was understood that they were going on a short sketching trip into the desert, but their stay was protracted much longer than was expected and the mother of Mr. Haug reported the case to the local police department some time ago and a search was started.

Jack Wright returned Wednesday night from a two weeks visit with his son, Billy, on the latter's ranch in Monterey county. Mr. Wright had an opportunity to see much of the picturesque celebration in honor of the founding of Monterey Mission which was being held in the quaint old town last week, and spent a couple of days in San Francisco, discussing politics with old acquaintances before coming home. He has returned prophesying a big Coolidge majority in this state and raving enthusiastically over the beauty and attractions of life on the ranch. Incidentally he claims that the tarantula exhibited in the News window is a mere infant in arms compared to some he saw on the ranch. His friends are wondering if he lists the presence of these "critters" among the "attractions" aforesaid.

Interesting news is being received from Miss Elizabeth Ferris, who is a member of the teaching force in Ludlow, Calif. The town is a railroad one about 50 miles from Barstow, and very different in character from Sierra Madre. In the few weeks there Miss Ferris has visited some mines and other places of interest.

Charlie Mullen, formerly ticket agent at the local Pacific Electric depot, who is residing in Garden Grove, spent Thursday visiting friends in Sierra Madre.

The choir of the Episcopal church are planning the first of a series of evenings of jollification for the winter. This will be in the nature of a gypsy party suggestive of the Halloween season and open to the community to enjoy. Further details will follow later.
